

Bumper to Bumper, There's No Comparison (And in this case, bigger IS better.)

"Their" bumper.

The standard beverage trailer bumper these days is 10 inches high. The Mickey bumper is a full 30 inches high, and that difference goes a long way in preventing costly override damage to your trailer.

Not only is the Mickey bumper larger than its competitors, it's also stronger. That's good to know whether your hauling cases around town, downtown or out-of-town. Our aluminum bumpers stand up to the everyday rigors of the beverage delivery business better than anything else on the market. We design our trailers to show off your products, so our bumpers won't show unsightly rust from small dings. And they're also tough enough to absorb major impact.

Mickey bumpers are welded directly onto the trailer, so they won't pull off or cause major damage to the rear of the unit if they are "snagged."

It's simple: Mickey bumpers are the very best in the industry. We wouldn't settle for anything less, because we know you won't.
